

Anxiety & Overthinking

What do I know for certain about this situation, and what am I assuming?

What am I predicting will happen, and what evidence do I actually have?

What part of this situation is within my control today?

What am I trying to get certainty about that may have a guaranteed answer?

If someone I cared about had this exact thought, what would I say to them?

