

Empathy and Perspective

What might the other person have been feeling during our interaction?

What part of their perspective am I most likely to be missing?

What assumptions have I made about someone's intentions without actually checking them?

If someone I care about described this exact situation to me, what would I tell them?

How might my words or actions have affected the person, even if that wasn't my intention?

