

Mindfulness and Acceptance Prompts

What am I noticing right now without trying to change it?

What thought is asking for my attention, and can I let it be there without acting on it immediately?

What matters to me in this situation, even though I feel uncomfortable?

for mindful moments